

Player Questionnaire.

What part of Shadowrun do you find the most fun and would like to see more of in your games, rate each one from one to three:

Combat	_____
Matrix (Decking etc.)	_____
Magic		_____
Vehicle combat (Rigging)		_____
Covert operations and infiltration around facilities undetected)	_____	(Sneaking

Of what importance would you rate the following to your enjoyment of a Shadowrun game? Rate each from one to ten:

Corporate intrigue		_____
Character development and history	_____
World politics		_____
Learning new things about the sixth world	_____
Interacting with NPC's (Non Player Characters)	_____
Interacting with PC's (other Player Characters)	_____

What importance do you attach to your characters background, emotions and reasons for doing things? (Rate One to Ten) _____

What level of realism do you expect from a Shadowrun game? (Circle one option)

Very realistic, taxes, work, laws, diseases, weapon failures, bad luck and anything else that happens in your own day-to-day life.

Average realism, important stuff matters, but we can skip the boring day-to-day drek such as shopping for groceries and feeding the dog.

Unrealistic, you never have to bother about cleaning those guns, ammo materialises out of nowhere and you can open up on full-auto at anyone in the street that you don't like with the minimum of consequences.

Highly Unrealistic If I want to walk around with a forehead mounted Mr. Studd implant and a fully automatic railgun over my shoulder while walking next to my pet corporate dragon, then no-one should find this strange and even pass another look at me in the street.

How often would you like to play Shadowrun with it still being fun and not consider yourself a total loser?

Twice a week

Once a week

Once every two weeks

Once a month

Only when I can't possibly talk my boyfriend/girlfriend out of going, and the only other thing happening that night is the annual grass growers prize giving.

Your character
